

Urinal Screens

Sometimes the male demographic can be a tough nut to crack (no pun intended).

Here are some of of the best urinal ads we've seen, and why:

People who don't wear life preservers, are more likely to die in a boating accident. The Army Corp of Engineers used this urinal ad to get men to Wear It! The number of easily preventable deaths is reduced.

From Municipal Ordinances for, or against, smoking, to National Health Care and Gun Rights advocates. These urinal ads hit the target on issue campaigns.

Chances are that you have seen an ad for Flomax. This physicians group capitalized on the huge spend by Flomax to gain market share for their own practice.

This smart company uses these urinal ads as a guerilla marketing tactic and blankets bars and restaurants nationally.

We'd like to thank the candidates for providing us with fodder that fueled our growth in 2016

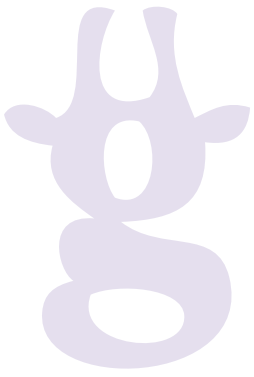

NTSA, Police Departments, Lawyers, MADD, Colleges can use these ads to help combat driving while impaired. Now, marijuana is legal in many states.
